

Call For Papers

PL.IT

RASSEGNA ITALIANA DI ARGOMENTI POLACCHI

ISSN: 2384-9266

Issue #8 (2017)

The international, peer-reviewed and open access journal «pl.it / rassegna italiana di argomenti polacchi» is accepting submissions for its eighth issue (2017). The journal welcomes contributions concerning Polish literature and culture from the early modern period to the present day.

We are most inclined to receive proposals of papers focusing on such topics as tolerance / intolerance, cultural and confessional pluralism, interaction of Polish literature with other cultures and literatures. The 5th centennial of the Reformation may offer an interesting opportunity for focusing on the aforementioned topics in the Commonwealth of the Two Nations. The 80th anniversary of the death of the poet Bolesław Leśmian may also stimulate specialists to new research. Submissions of papers devoted to other aspects of modern and contemporary literature and culture are equally welcome.

Please note that the papers submitted to the journal must be original and not published elsewhere in any language.

The papers may be written in Polish, Italian, French, English, or German. The issue is planned for publication in December 2017.

Previous and current issues of the journal are available online at plitonline.it

Proposals for contributions, with title, a short abstract (800-1000 characters) and a brief profile of the author (500-700 characters) should be sent to segreteria.plit@gmail.com. The deadline has been extended to 20 March 2017. Notification of acceptance or rejection of the subject proposed in the abstract will be communicated by 30 March 2017. The deadline for submitting the definitive text of the papers is 31 May 2017. The articles should not exceed 45,000 characters (including bibliography and footnotes).

Please note that each paper will be submitted to double blind peer review before being accepted for publication.